Dear Friends,

The recent passing of Wendell Berry, one of America's most influential voices on land, community, and stewardship, had me reflecting on his lifelong message: caring for the world begins with caring for the place we call home.

That's exactly what we've tried to do at the Foodlink Community Farm.

What was once an underused piece of land in northwest Rochester has become a place of beauty, nourishment, learning, and connection. Children from local schools and summer programs step onto the farm and discover something unexpected: vegetables growing in the soil, pollinators at work, neighbors gathered together, fresh food prepared simply, and the joy of being outdoors.

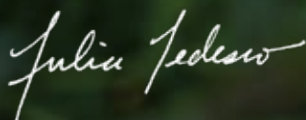

This year alone, more than 1,200 students visited the farm. They planted seeds, tasted fresh foods, explored the greenhouse, dug their hands into the dirt, and learned where food comes from. For many, it was their first experience in a garden.

It has been a dream come true to create a space where children can learn, play, and imagine a healthier future. Berry wrote that in order to take care of our world, we must love it.

Your support helps make that love visible every day. And it reaches far beyond the farm's fences. It helps feed our neighbors, respond in times of need, and build a community where everyone has the opportunity to thrive.

In a world that can feel divided and uncertain, this work offers something hopeful: people coming together to care for one another and for the place we call home. Thank you for making it possible.

With gratitude,

President & CEO

We have the world to live in on the condition that we will take good care of it.

And to take good care of it, we have to know it.

And to know it and to be willing to take care of it, we have to love it.”

—Wendell Berry

Foodlink Community Farm

THROUGH THE

This past year, Foodlink hosted 1,200+ third-graders from the Rochester City School District for a series of field trips unlike anything they had experienced before.

Day after day, dozens of students stepped off a school bus into the middle of northwest Rochester and discovered a thriving farm alive with a diverse collection of neighbors, food and possibility.

For many RCSD students, these experiences sparked a sense of wonder. Some had never planted a seed or pulled a vegetable from the soil. Yet there they were, exploring, asking questions, getting their hands dirty, and discovering where food comes from in ways that no textbook could ever teach.

In collaboration with ROC Ecology Partners, Foodlink created an immersive learning experience that invited students to explore our greenhouse, learn about plants and insects, watch cooking demonstrations, and taste fresh foods. The experience sparked meaningful reflection. "You have to wait for something to grow. Don't rush it," one girl said. "Different plants need different kinds of care," her classmate added.

Growth at the farm wasn't limited to educational programming. Our community garden also welcomed a record number of New American participants, with 105 families now tending plots and contributing to the life of the farm — more than 30 additional families compared to the previous year. Their presence continues to enrich the vibrant, diverse community taking shape on the farm every day.

What was once an ambitious idea has become a valuable community asset, producing fresh food, and serving as a living classroom for thousands of children and families.

AN ACTION-PACKED YEAR ON THE FARM!

The Foodlink Community Farm grew into a vibrant community hub this past year. Beyond our busy days filled with third-grade field trips, the farm also hosted:

- ▶ The Growing Good summer camp, hosted in partnership with ROC Ecology Partners
- ▶ Our annual Fall Festival and the grand opening of our new Edible Education Center and expanded garden
- ▶ The construction of our new pavilion, made possible by the Riedman Foundation
- ▶ Soil Health Day, hosted by Foodlink, Cornell Cooperative Extension and NY Soil Health
- ▶ A 'Healthy Pots, Healthy Homes' event spearheaded by the Coalition to Prevent Lead Poisoning
- ▶ Foodlink Career Fellowship graduation ceremonies, community gatherings and more!

FOOD-BASED HEALTHCARE

Access to healthy food is transformative when it is paired with holistic, wrap-around support. That belief has guided the design of many of Foodlink’s community-based programs through the years.

This past year, we strengthened that commitment by launching a dedicated Food-Based Healthcare team and becoming the regional leader in delivering nutrition services through New York State’s Medicaid 1115 Waiver. Through this work, we partner directly with eligible Medicaid members, including children, single parents, seniors, pregnant and postpartum women, and at-risk youth, to provide coordinated nutrition, education, and support services designed to improve long-term health outcomes.

What makes this program unique is its “closed-loop” approach to healthcare. Rather than providing a single service, Foodlink supports participants at every step of their health journey:

- Our registered dietitian, Jill Chodak, MS, RD, CDN, offers trauma-informed nutrition counseling, helping individuals set achievable goals while connecting them with resources that address barriers to healthy eating and living.

- After an initial nutrition counseling session, participants can receive cooking supplies and a food “prescription” designed to meet their needs. The Food Prescription (FoodRx) service offers weekly customizable packs of shelf-stable food, paired with Curbside Market vouchers, allowing members choice with their food options and the ability to get a week’s worth of food delivered directly to their door.
- More than half of the fresh produce included in the FoodRx boxes comes from regional farms, helping improve health outcomes while supporting local agriculture.

In the last year, the FoodRx programs have grown to serve more than 500 households each week with nutritious food and supportive services. By addressing food insecurity and health challenges together, Food-Based Healthcare demonstrates how food can be more than nourishment. It can be medicine, prevention, dignity, and hope.

SENIOR MEALS

For more than 25 years, the Foodlink Community Kitchen has been committed to nourishing children and setting a higher standard for institutional food service. Last year, while continuing to prepare more than 10,000 meals daily for young people, we expanded our services to support another vulnerable population: older adults. Through a new partnership with Monroe County's Office for the Aging, we launched a Senior Meals program that extends our commitment to nutrition across generations.

- Foodlink added 19 meal sites that catered to a diverse, senior population across Monroe County. Sites included: Lifespan's Lily Café, Henrietta Senior Center, Charles Settlement House and the Ibero-American Action League's Centro De Oro — and a host of others.
- In total, our kitchen team served 109,407 healthy, from-scratch meals, while allowing seniors to sit down and share a meal and escape a feeling of isolation that often impacts older adults.
- Aside from daily meal production, our team served as the lead caterer for the county's annual Salute to Seniors event at Ontario Beach Park in August, where we prepared food for more than 1,100 neighbors.

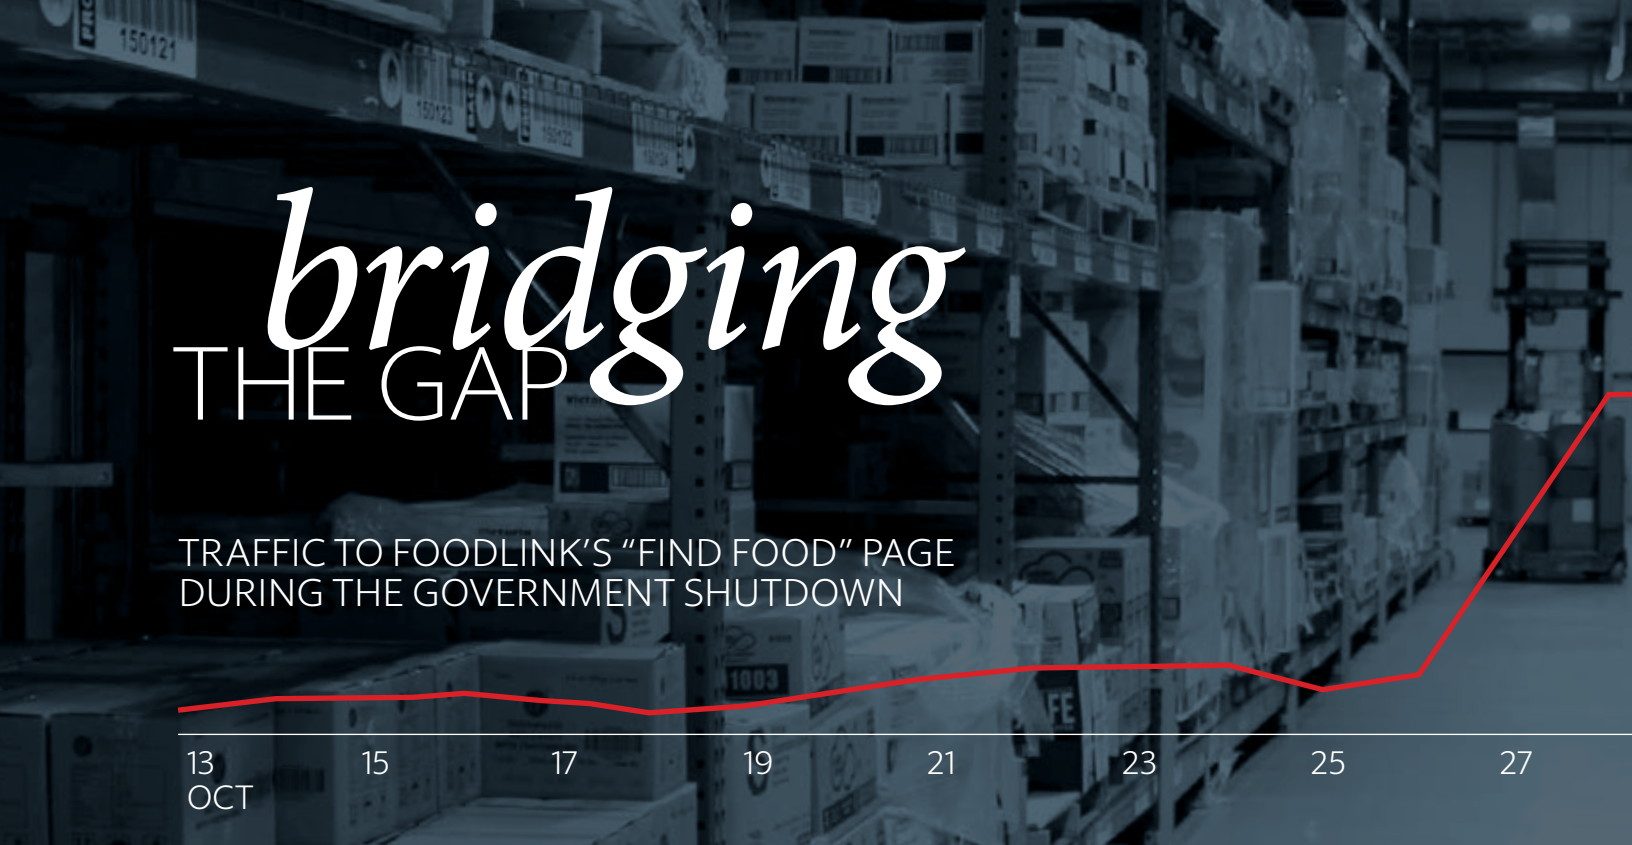

- Our prep cooks enjoyed visiting sites to assist with meal service and getting to know our partners and clients. Our team also hosted site coordinators and seniors to our farm and for tours of Foodlink.

After decades of preparing healthy meals for local kids, we recognized a new opportunity to serve an additional population, and are so proud of how we were able to respond in our first year. This is a population that is often overlooked in the work we do. It is so important for older adults to have an opportunity to share a sense of community, enjoy a healthy meal, and get out of their homes. There is no kitchen more capable or better equipped to help facilitate and share this experience than our dedicated team here at Foodlink.

When threats are made to the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), food banks and those whom we serve feel the impact almost immediately. Twice this past year, Foodlink sprang into action to serve our neighbors as major SNAP disruptions and cuts caused food insecurity and anxiety to rise across the country.

THE FEDERAL SHUTDOWN

A government shutdown last fall paused SNAP benefits for about 155,000 local residents, leaving households anxious about how to put food on the table heading into the holiday season. Foodlink purchased $1.5 million in additional food and distributed more than 2.5 million pounds during the shutdown — more than twice as much food as the same time period a year prior.

Local inquiries about how to access the emergency food system rose to unprecedented levels. Website traffic to Foodlink's Find Food page rose 245% compared to the year prior. Visits to pantries also surged. When the government reopened, a sigh of relief was felt by many — but not without the lasting impact of uncertainty that gripped the nation for 40+ days.

SNAP CHANGES

As our region grappled with a pause in benefits, massive changes to SNAP eligibility and funding were rolling out due to federal legislation passed earlier in the year. Foodlink, Monroe County, TogetherNow and other local stakeholders sought to educate the community about these wide-ranging changes through the development of a new website.

SaveMySNAP.org launched in March, as Foodlink's Benefits Navigation team helped triage local requests for assistance with neighbors seeking to remain eligible for SNAP. Ultimately, approximately 4,000 county residents lost SNAP in June, however many of our neighbors kept their benefits thanks to the information on our website, and the compassion of our staff.

The true impact of this response is reflected in the experiences of the organizations serving families on the front lines:

I am feeling extremely grateful that we have this relationship with Foodlink. This SNAP crisis is emotionally challenging to all of us, yet we can actually put those emotions to work in a positive way by doing something to help our community because you all and your organization are in our corner. We see your hard work, and we feel inspired by your unfaltering dedication to our communities.

record-breaking YEAR

CHECK OUT HUNGER

Foodlink is deeply grateful to the thousands of Wegmans customers whose generosity made this year's Check Out Hunger campaign the most successful in its 32-year history.

Together, Rochester-area shoppers donated an incredible $820,515, a 17% increase over the previous year, and the equivalent of 2.5 million meals! Every dollar raised stays local, helping Foodlink provide nutritious food and critical resources to our neighbors facing hunger.

The success of Check Out Hunger reflects the power of partnership between Foodlink, Wegmans, and a community that cares deeply about the well-being of our neighbors.

To every customer and employee who contributed to the success of this year's campaign: Thank you!

Check Out Hunger is more than an annual workplace initiative for Suzanne Searle. It's personal.

As a devoted Wegmans employee, she consistently urges customers who go through her line to make a donation to support Foodlink during the 6-week fundraising campaign. She knows how important it is to make the ask, because she's been the one asking for help before.

Decades earlier, a devastating health scare paralyzed her husband and cut their family income to a fraction of what it once was. Everything they had "was taken away in an instant," she said.

After years of scraping by, and a few weeks of only eating Corn Flakes for every meal, she found a food pantry through her local church. What she remembers most about that humbling experience of visiting a food pantry for the first time wasn't the hardship. It was the kindness.

"To go to a food pantry and have someone stand there and actually see you — and notice that you exist. It's not even about the food, it's knowing somebody cares."

Today, she's one of many cashiers who serve as an ambassador to the largest annual fundraiser for Foodlink. She exudes excitement and gratitude with every donation — big and small. She knows it's going to a good place.

"My story is just this ... an average family who fell on really hard times, was picked up, rescued, fed and loved by complete strangers," Searle said. "I will always be your loudest cheerleader. You saved our life in more ways than you know."

NAPLES OPEN CUPBOARD

At the Naples Open Cupboard, food assistance begins with a smile and a simple message: "We're happy you're here."

That spirit of hospitality has transformed the pantry into a thriving community hub at the heart of a close-knit village where neighbors know and care for one another. Since 2023, the organization has quadrupled the amount of assistance it provides to those in need. "That's a very sobering statistic, but it's also heartwarming to know that we are here to provide that service," said Naples Open Cupboard President John French.

Approximately 120+ volunteers are the catalyst behind that growth, as well as a recent move to a larger facility on Mill Street that features a new "Thrift & Thrive" store on its top floor. Proceeds from clothing sales help support the food distribution operations on the bottom floor. Today, approximately 350-400 households are assisted monthly by its food pantry, in addition to 150-200 households who visit its monthly Pop-up Pantry in partnership with Hazlitt Red Cat Cellars.

But the Naples Open Cupboard does more than distribute food. It signed on to work in partnership with Foodlink on two other initiatives this past summer: a unique Summer Meals partnership, and screening Medicaid members for 1115 Waiver eligibility (see page 6 for details).

Community support has fueled every stage of the Open Cupboard's evolution. Its volunteers and staff strive to create a judgment-free space where people experiencing homelessness, domestic violence or other challenges can find compassionate guidance and connections to helpful resources.

Through its partnership with Foodlink, the Naples Open Cupboard is meeting immediate needs while strengthening connections among neighbors from all walks of life.

"When people come in, they could be having the worst day of their life," said Director Christina Bliss. (They could be) facing eviction, or without enough food for their children. We come in and greet them with a smile. By the time they leave, it's hugs and gratitude, which is why we do what we do."

DONOR spotlight

For Simone Elvey, the seeds of generosity were planted during her childhood in Jamaica, where giving was a part of everyday family life. Every Sunday, Simone's father welcomed an unhoused neighbor for dinner, offering a place to shower and clean clothes. Sitting on the porch steps, Simone listened to their story and began to understand how easily life's circumstances can change.

"My parents weren't well off," Simone recalls. "But we did what we could, with what we had."

That compassion continued after the family moved to the United States. Simone's mother, a teacher in Brooklyn, provided lunches for children in her classroom because she remembered what it felt like to be hungry and expected to learn.

Years later, those lessons found a new expression during a tour of Foodlink. Learning about Foodlink's programs that nourish school children moved Simone to write a check immediately. Supporting children facing hunger carried forward the kindness modeled at home and in her mother's classroom.

That first gift grew into a recurring commitment. "I decided to become a recurring donor, because if I'm honest, I can. So why not?"

Consistent gifts like Simone's help Foodlink plan and sustain our work throughout the year. For children and families, that dependable support helps keep nourishing food within reach — not just in one season, but as needs continue.

Rooted in a family tradition of giving, Simone's generosity is planting possibilities for neighbors today and in the years ahead.

Monthly giving is one of the most powerful ways to support Foodlink's mission. Even a modest donation each month adds up to hundreds of meals over the course of a year. By giving monthly, you help create consistent impact all year long!

It's easy to do online at FoodlinkNY.org or by contacting Foodlink's team at development@foodlinkny.org

AUGIE MAKES A DIFFERENCE

Some donations come with an incredible story. This one came to us from an 8-year-old named Augie.

Augie was given $100 by his grandparents with a simple mission: donate it to a nonprofit of his choice. Augie took the task seriously. He researched several organizations, thoughtfully chose Foodlink, and even created a presentation to explain to his family why our work mattered to him.

Augie's grandparents reached out to Foodlink to arrange a visit so he could present his research and personally deliver his donation.

When Augie shared his presentation with our team, he told us that food is essential, everyone needs it, and people without food deserve to have it. He explained that he chose Foodlink because we "offer a lot," and proudly described us as "the helpers of food."

Augie toured Foodlink alongside his dad, younger sister, and grandparents. As they walked through our facility and saw firsthand all that happens here each day—from food distribution to community based programs—they were amazed. Inspired by Augie's thoughtfulness, research, and the work happening at Foodlink, his grandparents decided to match his gift, bringing the total donation to $200.

We are grateful to Augie and his family for their generosity, curiosity, and belief in our mission. Their story is a beautiful reminder that compassion has no age limit—and that when we take the time to learn about our community and care for one another, we all become helpers.
